Internships for Engineering/Business/ Computer Science/Accounting majors

- The Washington Center
  - Description: Minority Internship Program for Diverse Groups for the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA). Selected students have the opportunity to intern for FAA offices and participate in an experiential training program focused on professional achievement, leadership, and civic engagement.
  - Fields/major: Engineering, business, and computer science majors
  - Requirements:
  - Deadlines:
  - Compensation: Program fees, Housing, Semimonthly stipend, travel stipend, Assistance with local transportation
  - Application: Apply online through the website

- Editorial Operations Internship – Marvel Entertainment
  - Description: You'll need the pinpoint aim of Marvel's ace archer Hawkeye for this exciting internship! Learn the day-to-day process of scheduling Marvel comics for print, and assist with administrative duties that go hand-in-hand with meeting Marvel's publishing deadlines. Filing and dealing with extensive paperwork are but a few of the mighty tasks you'll be called upon to perform. You'll also deal with every department Marvel has, from Accounting, to Editorial, to our fabulous Bullpen.
  - Fields/major: Business
  - Requirements: You must be a college Freshman through College Senior proficient in Excel and Word to qualify for this internship
  - Deadlines: Rolling
  - Compensation: Non-paid
  - Application: Apply here

- Business Development Internship
  - Description: The Business Development Department manages a broad spectrum of marketing, promotions, sales and brand development projects. Business Development interns will have a multitude of jobs including: creating promotional presentations, marketing research, meeting attendance & recap, convention planning, interdepartmental communications, coordinating publishing materials, creative brainstorming, digital assets management and production schedule administration for a team of designers.
  - Fields/major: Marketing, business, design or communications.
  - Deadlines: Rolling
  - Compensation: Non-paid
  - Application: Apply here

- Accounting Internship

        - Description: Interns are responsible for data entry, general filing, and creating Excel spreadsheets for special projects, basic accounting, and verifying proper backup for travel and entertainment expenses. What? You thought you'd be counting all the money we made off the Iron Man movie?
        - Fields/major: Accounting
        - Deadlines: Rolling
        - Compensation: Non-paid
        - Application: Apply here
    - Information Technology Internship
        - Description: Computer Science students interested in experiencing application development and deployment in a fast-paced, high-pressure environment should submit their resume and application. The IT Applications department is responsible for defining and deploying technology solutions including: Oracle Applications, Enterprise Content Management, Workflow Solutions, and Portals & Collaboration. Duties will include: Data Migration & Maintenance, Application Testing & Documentation, and Business Process & Requirements Documentation.
        - Fields/major: IT or computer science
        - Deadlines: Rolling
        - Compensation: Non-paid
        - Application: Apply here

    - Science Web Editorial Internship
        - Description: The intern will work with the Web editorial team of Science on a variety of content-focused projects touching a range of topics and media. Specific tasks may include conducting interviews for the Science Podcast, audio editing, video capture and editing, animation, and web production; helping to build up and support Science's efforts in social-media channels such as Facebook and Twitter; assisting with other Web content related to Science special issues and editorial efforts; writing Web-friendly or audio-friendly summaries of scientific research; filling in as needed for absent staff; and providing other help as needed to staff writers/producers/editors.
        - Fields/major: Applicants should have an educational background in science, as well as demonstrated writing talent, hands-on experience in multimedia editing, familiarity with social media, and basic HTML and office software skills.
        - Requirements: College seniors and beyond
        - Deadlines: Science accepts applications for two 6-month periods: a winter-spring internship from January through June (deadline, September 15; selection, by mid-October) and a summer-fall internship from July through December (deadline, March 1; selection, by mid-April).
        - Compensation: The internship is expected to pay $14.00 to $16.00 an hour, depending on skills and qualifications.
        - Application: click here

- Information Technology Desktop Internship
    - Description: Interns will help support desktop (PC and MAC) software installs and troubleshooting problems within the Marvel office. A qualified candidate must have some MAC and PC hardware knowledge and experience with Microsoft OS and Office tools. IT Desktop Interns will also be responsible for entering and updating IT helpdesk tickets.
    - Fields/major: IT or computer science
    - Deadlines: Rolling
    - Compensation: Non-paid
    - Application: Apply here
- Research & Scheduling Summer Intern
    - Description: Our intern will help research competitive network strategies & entertainment business trends to assist the department in scheduling decision-making process. Our intern will work with us on our various long-term department projects by gathering information, analyzing research data, and creating PowerPoint presentations. Day-to-day tasks will include competitive network tracking, screening & evaluating acquisition submissions, and checking program listing accuracy. The Research/Scheduling intern will work with research on various long term department projects by gathering information, analyzing research data and creating presentations. Day to day tasks will include creation and dissemination of a variety of regular reports. The intern must be familiar with Excel & PowerPoint
    - Fields/major: Marketing, PR, production and programming.
    - Requirements: Currently enrolled as an undergraduate or graduate student with 3.0 GPA
    - Deadlines: Rolling
    - Compensation: paid
    - Application: Click here
- Website/Print Designer Internship
    - Description: The internship is 10-12 weeks and allows interns to telecommute. The position includes maintaining the Upscale Magazine website, creating online newsletters, surveys and forms, and print projects. Applicants must have prior experience with Photoshop, Illustrator, Quark, Dreamweaver, Flash and other similar design programs.
    - Fields/major: web design, computer science; graphic design
    - Requirements: Candidate must have experience creating html pages as well as, developing tables and working with programs that utilize cascading style sheets. Candidate must have excellent print design skills. Should have experience creating basic online forms.
    - Deadlines: not specified
    - Compensation: unpaid; college credit
    - Application: click here