Subject: Thursday, January 25, 2007 – CAS Chairs Meeting

AGENDA:

The proposal for the new Honors program will be the sole item on the agenda at the Chairs meeting next Thursday, January 25, 12:15 - 1:30 pm in Cohn 33. Lunch will be served at the meeting.

You have already received a hard copy of the proposal. An electronic copy is also attached. The proposed Honors Program allows for student participants in every major as well as faculty participants from all divisions and departments of the College. Following a brief introduction to the report by Nick Miller (Chair of the Honors Review Committee and Director of the Honors Program) and members of the Committee, the bulk of our time will be devoted to your questions and comments.

Professor Miller and the Honors Review Committee are interested in any of your responses to the proposal. However, they would be particularly interested in learning which elements of the new curriculum (the Honors Foundation, Honors Seminars and Honors Thesis) seem most exciting to you and/or members of your departments, and which might pose particular problems or challenges.

This meeting with Chairs is the first of a number of meetings the Honors Review Committee will be holding with faculty and administrators throughout the semester. We hope you come prepared for an interesting exchange.

Jim
