Overview:

Loyola University Maryland complies with the requirements of the 1989 amendments to the Drug-Free Schools and Communities Act (DFSCA), as articulated in the Education Department General Administrative Regulations (EDGAR) Part 86. These regulations require Institutions of Higher Education to conduct a biennial review of their alcohol and other drug programs and policies. The biennial review is designed to document the University's prevention efforts, as this review examines the scope effectiveness of campus prevention and educational programs which are critical to creating a comprehensive effort and complying with the regulations. Loyola's Biennial Review is completed in even-numbered years by a Biennial Review Working Group (Student Support and Wellness Promotion, Associate Dean of Students, Student Life, Student Activities, and Human Resources) under the leadership of the Director of Student Support and Wellness Promotion or designee.

Distribution of Documents

As required by the Drug Free Schools and Communities Act of 1989, Loyola University Maryland distributes the Annual Notification of the University's Drug and Alcohol Abuse Prevention Program by email to all students (undergraduate and graduate) and employees to their university email address. These emails were sent, generally, in September, January, and June to ensure that all University members were provided with this information, regardless of enrollment time, and/or start-date. Additionally, the Annual Notification is embedded on university websites, including those for the Office of Human Resources and the Office of Student Support and Wellness Promotion. All new employees were provided with a copy or a link to the Annual Notification and Biennial Review during their new employee orientation.

Loyola University Maryland has a long-standing commitment to alcohol and other drug prevention, including professional staff, prevention education, early intervention, and environmental management through a University Alcohol and Other Drug (AOD) Task Force. For academic year 2020 – 2021, The University was a member of the Maryland Collaborative to Reduce College Drinking and Related Problems, which includes surveys and respective recommendations to address high-risk alcohol use.

Objectives:

The objectives of the Biennial Review, as identified by the U.S. Department of Education, include

- Determining the effectiveness of and implementing any needed changes to all Alcohol and Drug Prevention Programs and Policies at Loyola University Maryland.
- Ensuring that the disciplinary sanctions for violating standards of conduct are enforced consistently. This is done in compliance with the Code of Federal Regulations, 34 CFR Part 86, or The Drug-Free Schools and Communities Act.

Description of Alcohol and Other Drug (AOD) Program Model

Loyola University Maryland consistently utilizes best practices to create and implement their comprehensive prevention program, which is aimed at reducing student substance use. The following table outlines the University’s 3-in-1 prevention framework.

The following procedures represent the key programmatic elements of our campus prevention efforts.

Individual Level Interventions for Students

Screenings and referral for education or treatment:

All students who were found responsible for a simple alcohol violation, typically students with an underage possession of alcohol, were sanctioned to complete alcohol education from either the Office of Student Conduct or the Office of Student Support and Wellness Promotion. Students may have been required to meet with an off-campus substance use counselor if deemed necessary by the Office of Student Support and Wellness Promotion.

Additionally, any subsequent violation of the alcohol policy typically resulted in a mandated evaluation by an off-campus counselor who specialized in substance use disorders to determine if an alcohol use disorder diagnosis was present. At that point, the student was required to follow treatment/education interventions, as per the off-campus counselor’s recommendations.

All students who were found responsible for any drug violations were required to meet with either the Director of Student Support and Wellness Promotion or the Dean of Students to establish an immediate appointment with an off-campus evaluator/substance use counselor. The student was required to follow all recommendations for treatment.

Students who were frequent, or habitual drug users were suspended from the University, with the condition for return to the University being completion of a drug/alcohol treatment program. Students who were found responsible for drug distribution, were expelled from the University.

Education Interventions

- AlcoholEDU

  AlcoholEdu® is an evidence-based training designed to prevent risky drinking and other drug use on campus and help students better reach their academic, professional and personal goals.
• Parental notification of policy violations:
Loyola views parents and families as partners in the educational process, and in keeping with that spirit parents are notified in the event of any alcohol or drug policy violation for first year students. Furthermore, parents are notified of any drug policy violation and/or hospital transport regardless of class year.

• Faculty/Administrator/Staff/ Student Leaders conversations with students:
There are two primary ways by which substance use issues, concerns, and consequences are highlighted and addressed on campus: 1) advisor notification in the event of a conduct violation. In such an event, professors can utilize their relationships with students to help facilitate a discussion about what is taking place in the students’ lives as well as help the students access services as needed, and 2) The Messina Living - Learning Program, through which students can become and remain engaged in conversations with faculty, administrators, and peers. By creating this greater connectivity students are supported and connected to campus and each other.

• Athletics:
The Office of Student Support and Wellness Promotion supports the Athletic Department’s random urine drug screening program; by evaluating and providing counseling to athletes who had positive urine drug screens.

• THC 101
THC 101 is a state law-specific intervention course that addresses cannabis use. THC 101 integrates personalized feedback using the individual’s responses and the eCHECKUP TO GO brief intervention tool. THC 101 covers cannabis smoking, vaping, concentrates, and edibles. Individuals are guided through a personalized plan of action for making positive behavior changes, identifying protective behaviors to reduce use and negative consequences. The course includes a 30-day booster to measure changes in the individual’s attitudes and behavior. This intervention is used in combination with Drug screening with SSWP.

Student Population Level Interventions

• Consistent policy enforcement:
Our conduct system required that all students who were in violation of campus alcohol and/or drug policies were provided education by a professional in the Office of Student Support and Wellness Promotion.

• AlcoholEdu Sanction- online education requirement:
AlcoholEdu for Sanctions is an online program to help students, who have been found responsible for alcohol policy violations, evaluate their choices related to alcohol. The module is designed to teach students about the effects of alcohol on the body and mind and assist students in making safer and healthier decisions around alcohol use.

- Referral of students with conduct violations for education and/or evaluation and treatment:
  Students who were found responsible for AOD related violations of community standards worked with either the Office of Student Support and Wellness Promotion or the Office of Student Life for AOD harm reduction education and possible off-campus referral.

Alcohol-free social activities:

The University offered many opportunities for students to become involved in pro-social, substance-free activities, which have included the following events:

- Outreach and prevention presentations and programs:
  The Office of Student Support and Wellness Promotion conducted numerous presentations during the biennial period to help reduce substance use, as well as educated students about the possible negative consequences of alcohol and other drug use. During summer orientation, all incoming students and their families attended presentations on the college drinking culture utilizing social norms messages to correct misconceptions and reduce substance use.

- Academic rigor:
  In the Jesuit tradition Loyola University Maryland’s curriculum is based on a Core of classes which encourage critical thinking and help to enhance learning. The structure of the Core curriculum in addition to the requirements for individual majors, creates an academically rigorous community of learners.

- Friday and morning classes:
  Friday morning classes were also offered to help serve as a deterrent to drinking on Thursdays.

- Living-learning communities:
  Beginning with the 2015-16 academic year, all first-year students were enrolled in the Messina Living-Learning program, an endeavor which helps to connect students to faculty and administrators who work in tandem throughout the year. Upper class orientation leaders make up the final part of the Messina trio, as these leaders work with the students to enhance their overall academic and social experience at Loyola. The Messina program helped to connect students to multiple on-campus resources so that students were provided with the adequate resources and direction to intervene if there was a substance use concern.

- Substance Free Housing:
  Loyola University Maryland offered students two substance free housing options. The first option for students is to apply to live in the substance free housing block on campus, which was a designated section of campus housing for those students who wish to be substance-free. The second option for students was to select to have a substance free roommate. This option allowed students to live in any area of campus while still able to live with other like-minded individuals who were also substance free. Both options required that the students agree to not have any alcohol or drugs in the rooms, nor to allow others to return to their room under the influence of any substance.

University and Surrounding Community Level Interventions

- University representation in neighborhood associations:
  As a member of the Baltimore City community, Loyola University Maryland was dedicated to helping the city by attending local neighborhood association meetings. In addition to attending these meetings, the University also sent representatives to local neighborhood association meetings in areas in which our students who lived off-campus resided, to address any concerns relating to substance use, such as large-scale parties.

- Participation in the Maryland Collaborative to Reduce Underage Drinking and Associated Harm:
  For academic year 2020-2021, Loyola University Maryland had taken an active role in the Maryland Collaborative to Reduce College Drinking and Related Problems. SSWP has worked closely with the Maryland Collaborative to educate our students regarding comparative and institutional-specific data that is collected from the Maryland College Survey, combat over-service in local establishments, advocate for effective ID scanners in Baltimore City bars/restaurants.

- Re-entry to the University:
  The Medical Review Committee within the Office of the Vice President for the Division of Student Development evaluates students’ medical documentation prior to their return from a medical leave of absence. Upon the student’s return into the University, the Case Manager within the Office of Support and Wellness Promotion worked with the student to review recommendations and created an after-care plan, which established a supportive network for students upon their return to the University. The establishment of the plan for ongoing support typically began while the student was receiving treatment away from the University. Students who required alcohol and other drug-related support were able to meet with the Case Manager in the SSWP office to establish a therapeutic relationship and supportive structures to help in a student’s transition back to the University. These supportive structures included the following: off-campus individual counseling, off-campus group counseling, and referrals to peer-support groups and meetings.

Loyola University Maryland Community Standards
Alcohol and Other Drug-Related Policies

Loyola University Maryland Alcohol and Other Drug Policy:

1. Alcohol Policy

Loyola University Maryland fully supports and requires compliance with Maryland’s alcoholic beverage laws. These laws include prohibitions on the possession or consumption of alcohol by persons under age 21; furnishing alcohol to or obtaining alcohol for a person under age 21; and misrepresenting one’s age in order to obtain alcohol. Only those students who are 21 years of age and older are permitted to have alcohol in their residence unit. Students 21 years of age or older may possess and consume alcohol in the privacy of their unit in single-serving containers only. All students and guests are expected not to abuse alcohol, but rather to drink responsibly or abstain. This section includes policies applicable to students 21 years of age or older.

Note: Parents or guardians and core advisors will be notified in writing if their first-year student under age 21 is found responsible for an alcohol violation involving use or possession.

3. Drug Policy

Loyola University Maryland fully supports and requires compliance with federal and state laws regarding illegal drugs and paraphernalia. For purposes of this policy, “drug” also includes any other substance that is used to change mood or alter reality and is not used in accordance with a medical prescription, and “look alike” substances.

a. Drug use or possession (e.g., marijuana, heroin, LSD, cocaine, mushrooms, ecstasy, ketamine, unauthorized use or abuse of prescription drugs, etc.)

   Standard sanction: suspension from the University, $500 fine, and referral to substance use counseling to be completed prior to return.

   In less severe cases, the University will ordinarily exercise its discretion to apply a less severe sanction including deferred suspension from the university, $500 fine, and referral to substance use counseling. E. Sanctions and Outcomes for Violations of the Student Code of Conduct

   Hearing officers or University Board members who find that a violation of the Code has occurred are authorized to issue student conduct sanctions, including but not limited to those cited below. Sanctions may be issued individually, or a combination of sanctions may be imposed. Multiple violations of the Code will result in more serious sanctions. The determination of sanctions will be guided by the interests of the University community, the impact of the violations on the victim(s), previous documented student conduct history, and any mitigating or aggravating circumstances.
More severe sanctions may be imposed for incidents in which the violation was motivated by consideration of race, sex, color, national or ethnic origin, age, religion, disability, marital status, sexual orientation, genetic information, military status, gender or gender identity, any other legally protected classification, or other targeted aspects of one’s identity. Increased sanctions may also be applied in cases where there was use of a weapon, where there was pre-meditation, where severe injuries were sustained as a result of the violation, or where the safety of the University community was placed in harm.

Noncompliance with or failure to meet the terms of a sanction imposed at any conduct hearing may result in students being sanctioned to the next step in probationary status, fined, and/or referred for a violation of the code of conduct. Room selection and/or class registration may also be delayed pending completion of sanctions.

NOTE: A record of conduct sanctions may impact a student’s ability to be a resident assistant, student government officer, Evergreen, peer conduct board member, etc. Such records must be reported on most law school applications, medical school applications, some graduate school forms, some University transfer forms, and, in some instances, job applications.

Study Abroad

The conduct status of a student is a key factor in determining eligibility for studying abroad. A student who will have a deferred suspension status for the term they wish to study abroad may not be eligible for the abroad experience. In addition, a student who has a history of serious conduct cannot study abroad. Students who are on deferred suspension at the time of application may not be allowed to study abroad. These cases will be reviewed on an individual basis by the Office of International Programs.

All students who study abroad are expected to be ambassadors for the University and present a positive image of Loyola University Maryland. Incidents involving student behaviors that occur abroad which violate the Community Standards and/or laws in the host country may be subject to Loyola University Maryland student conduct action. The Office of International Programs reserves the right to bring students home before an administrative hearing occurs. Loyola reserves the right to pursue student conduct action regardless of what action may or may not be taken in the host country by the host program.

Federal Student Financial Aid Penalties for Drug Law Violations

Under the Federal Higher Education Opportunity Act (HEOA), students who are convicted for any offense related to any federal or state law involving the possession or sale of illegal drugs will lose eligibility for any type of Title IV, HEA grant, loan, or work-study assistance.

When filing the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA), students are required to report if they have ever been convicted of any drug-related offense involving the possession or sale of illegal drugs. Failure to answer this question will automatically disqualify the student from eligibility for Federal Student Aid programs. (Knowingly providing false or misleading information on the FAFSA is considered a crime and can carry a fine of up to $10,000 or imprisonment.) If a student is convicted while receiving assistance through any Federal Student Aid program, the student must notify the Office of Financial Aid... immediately, will be ineligible for further aid, and will be required to repay all aid received after the conviction.

The Office of Financial Aid, in consultation with the Office of Student Conduct, reserves the right to review the assignment of university scholarships to students who are found responsible for violations of the drug policy at Loyola University Maryland.

The following non-exclusive list describes sanctions that may be assigned as a result of the finding of responsibility for violations of the Student Code of Conduct:

1. Written Reprimand

   A letter to the student citing the nature of the violation and informing the student that subsequent violation(s) of the Code of Conduct may result in more severe student conduct action.

2. Fine

   A monetary assessment payable by a specified date. From the date the bill is posted to the student account, students have 10 days to pay the fine. After 10 days, a late fee will be assessed, and a bill will be sent for the fine. Failure to pay a fine by the specified date will result in withholding of university records or transcripts and further student conduct action. Fines, in part, are applied to programs and services that address the overall alcohol culture on campus and to promote healthy, low risk alternatives to binge drinking.

3. Restitution

   Reimbursement for damage to or misappropriation of property. Reimbursement may take the form of monetary charges or appropriate service or repair to otherwise compensate for damages. If a student injures another person, reimbursement for hospital or medical bills may be required as restitution to the injured party.

4. Educational Projects

   Projects assigned for the educational benefit of the student, the organization, and/or the University community. Examples include enrollment in certain classes, participation in workshops or seminars, conducting research, writing papers, planning programs, apology letters etc. The University Board or hearing officer will designate a person to supervise such projects.

5. Substance Screening, Education, and/or Treatment

   This is a referral to the Office of Student Support and Wellness Promotion or off-campus counselor or treatment center for alcohol and other drug screening, education, prevention, and/or treatment of substance use/abuse problems.

6.  Civility Hours

   Service to the University community or surrounding community of a specified number of hours and date of completion. Failure to complete all or part of a civility hours assignment may result in a fine being imposed as well as further student conduct action. It is the student's responsibility to complete these hours as specified in the sanction letter.

7. Restorative practices referral

Referral to administrator who will facilitate restorative practices, to repair harm to individuals or community, including but not limited to restorative intakes, restorative circles, and other restorative outcomes.

8. Restricted Access or Privileges

Restriction or termination of a student’s access to any or all parts of the campus, including but not limited to residence halls, computer labs, dining or other campus facilities, the FAC, the Ridley Athletic Complex, or loss of parking privileges for a specified period. Students residing off-campus may be restricted from visiting the campus residence halls. On-campus residents may relinquish guest privileges.

9. Senior Week

Attendance at Senior Week events as well as residence on campus during Senior Week is a privilege and not a right. Consequently, the Dean of Students (or their designee) reserves the right to ban specified individuals from Senior Week Events (including Commencement exercises) and/or terminate residence hall or University status.

10. Loss of Room Selection Privileges

Loss of eligibility to participate in the annual student life room selection process.

11. Relocation to Another Residence

b. Off-Campus Relocations: the off-campus student is required to move to a new off-campus residence or to an on a campus residence, if available and appropriate, within one day of written notice, for a specified period. If a student is required to move to another off-campus residence, the new residence must comply with the covenant between Loyola and the North Baltimore Neighborhood Coalition. Parents or guardians of dependent students may be notified.

12. Restricted Contact

Student is prohibited from having any contact “direct, indirect, or third party on their behalf” with a particular person(s). Restricted contact includes voicemail, email, written, verbal, or non-verbal communication (e.g., gestures and staring). Violations may result in suspension from the University.

13. Social Restrictions

Participation in University-sponsored activities is prohibited for a specified period. Restrictions may be applied to only certain activities or to all extracurricular activities. This may include the loss of leadership position(s) and ability to participate in clubs, organizations, club sports, and varsity athletics for a specified period.

14. Residence Hall Probation

A specified period of time during which a student may face severe conduct sanctions including suspension from the residence halls for any subsequent violation(s) occurring during the period of probation. 16. Deferred Suspension from the Residence Halls

A specified period of time during which a student will likely face suspension from the residence halls for subsequent violations occurring during the period of deferred suspension or for failure to comply with previously imposed student conduct sanctions. Parents or guardians of dependent students and core advisors will likely be notified.

17. Deferred Suspension from the University

A specified period of time during which a student will likely face suspension from the University for subsequent violations occurring during the period of deferred suspension or for failure to comply with previously imposed student conduct sanctions. Parents or guardians of dependent students and core advisors will likely be notified.

18. Suspension from the Residence Halls

Exclusion from living in the residence halls for a specified period of time as set forth in the sanction letter. Unless otherwise noted in the sanction letter, the student will be denied access to the residence halls, including Iggy’s Market, during the period of suspension. The conditions for returning to the residence halls will be stated in the sanction letter. During the period of residence hall suspension, students may not be eligible to participate in the room selection process, nor to be “pulled in” by current residents. Parents or guardians of dependent students and core advisors will likely be notified.

During the period of suspension, any credits earned at other institutions will not be accepted at Loyola. Students may not be eligible to participate in the room selection process, nor to be “pulled in” by current residents. Students returning to Loyola after a suspension will not receive priority in class registration. They will be allowed to register after all the other members of their class year have registered. Students who are suspended from the University will forfeit eligibility for institutionally funded need-based grant assistance and academic scholarship assistance for any additional semester(s) needed to complete an undergraduate degree.

20. Expulsion

Expulsion is a permanent termination of student status from Loyola University Maryland. 1. Alcohol Policy

   Loyola University Maryland fully supports and requires compliance with Maryland’s alcoholic beverage laws. Only those students who are 21 years of age and older are permitted to have alcohol in their residence unit. Guests who are 21 years of age and older may not bring alcohol to a unit where at least one person is under the age of 21. Students 21 years of age or older may possess and consume alcohol in the privacy of their unit in single-serving containers only. All students and guests are expected not to abuse alcohol, but rather to drink responsibly or abstain. This section includes policies applicable to students 21 years of age or older.

   Note: Parents or guardians and core advisors will be notified in writing if their first-year student under age 21 is found responsible for an alcohol violation involving use or possession.

   a. Having open containers of alcoholic beverages or consumption of alcohol in any public area on Loyola owned or leased property, regardless of age (e.g., lounges, corridors, outdoors, etc.) Standard sanction: $75 fine and a written reprimand, in addition to sanctions for underage possession if applicable.

   b. Unauthorized possession or consumption of alcoholic beverages. “Possession” means having an alcoholic beverage under one’s charge or control. Students under age 21 may not possess or consume alcoholic beverages at any time. Students who are 21 years of age or older are expected to dispose of empty alcohol containers. Students are prohibited from displaying empty alcohol containers. Empty alcohol containers should not be used as decoration.

3. Drug Policy

   Loyola University Maryland fully supports and requires compliance with federal and state laws regarding illegal drugs and paraphernalia. For purposes of this policy, “drug” also includes any other substance that is used to change mood or alter reality and is not used in accordance with a medical prescription, and “look alike” substances.

a. Drug use or possession (e.g., marijuana, heroin, LSD, cocaine, mushrooms, ecstasy, ketamine, unauthorized use or abuse of prescription drugs, etc.)

   Standard sanction: suspension from the University, $500 fine, and referral to substance use intervention to be completed prior to return.

   In less severe cases, the University will ordinarily exercise its discretion to apply a less severe sanction including deferred suspension from the university, $500 fine, and referral to substance use intervention. In more severe cases, the University will ordinarily exercise its discretion to apply a more severe sanction including expulsion.
Severity will be determined based on all surrounding circumstances including type of drug, quantity of drug, student conduct history, and impact on community.

b. Drug paraphernalia possession. Standard sanction: suspension from the University, $500 fine, and referral to substance use intervention to be completed prior to return.

In less severe cases, the University will ordinarily exercise its discretion to apply a less severe sanction including deferred suspension from the university, $500 fine, and referral to substance use intervention. In more severe cases, the University will ordinarily exercise its discretion to apply a more severe sanction including expulsion.

Severity will be determined based on all surrounding circumstances including type of drug, quantity of drug, student conduct history, and impact on community.

Controlled substances, illegal drugs, and drug paraphernalia are subject to confiscation. The University reserves the right to refer potential criminal violations to local law enforcement authorities.

Note: Parents or guardians will be notified in writing if their student is found to be in violation of the University's drug policy. Core advisors may be notified if their first-year students are found to be violation of the University’s drug policy.

E. Sanctions and Outcomes for Violations of the Student Code of Conduct

Hearing officers or University Board members who find that a violation of the Code has occurred are authorized to issue student conduct sanctions, including but not limited to those cited below. Sanctions may be issued individually, or a combination of sanctions may be imposed. Multiple violations of the Code will result in more serious sanctions. The determination of sanctions will be guided by the interests of the University community, the impact of the violations on the victim(s), previous documented student conduct history, and any mitigating or aggravating circumstances.

More severe sanctions may be imposed for incidents in which the violation was motivated by consideration of race, sex, color, national or ethnic origin, age, religion, disability, marital status, sexual orientation, genetic information, military status, gender or gender identity, any other legally protected classification, or other targeted aspects of one’s identity. Increased sanctions may also be applied in cases where there was use of a weapon, where there was pre-meditation, where severe injuries were sustained as a result of the violation, or where the safety of the University community was placed in harm.

Noncompliance with or failure to meet the terms of a sanction imposed at any conduct hearing may result in students being sanctioned to the next step in probationary status, fined, and/or referred for a violation the code of conduct. Room selection and/or class registration may also be delayed pending completion of sanctions.
NOTE: A record of conduct sanctions may impact a student’s ability to be a resident assistant, student government officer, Evergreen, peer conduct board member, etc. Such records must be reported on most law school applications, medical school applications, some graduate school forms, some University transfer forms, and, in some instances, job applications.

Study Abroad

The conduct status of a student is a key factor in determining eligibility for studying abroad. A student who will have a deferred suspension status for the term they wish to study abroad may not be eligible for the abroad experience. In addition, a student who has a history of serious conduct behaviors cannot study abroad. Students who are on deferred suspension at the time of application may not be allowed to study abroad. These cases will be reviewed on an individual basis by the Office of International Programs.

All students who study abroad are expected to be ambassadors for the University and present a positive image of Loyola University Maryland. Incidents involving student behaviors that occur abroad which violate the Community Standards and/or laws in the host country may be subject to Loyola University Maryland student conduct action. The Office of International Programs reserves the right to bring students home before an administrative hearing occurs. Loyola reserves the right to pursue student conduct action regardless of what action may or may not be taken in the host country by the host program.

Federal Student Financial Aid Penalties for Drug Law Violations

Under the Federal Higher Education Opportunity Act (HEOA), students who are convicted for any offense related to any federal or state law involving the possession or sale of illegal drugs will lose eligibility for any type of Title IV, HEA grant, loan, or work-study assistance.

When filing the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA), students are required to report if they have ever been convicted of any drug-related offense involving the possession or sale of illegal drugs. Failure to answer this question will automatically disqualify the student from eligibility for Federal Student Aid programs. (Knowingly providing false or misleading information on the FAFSA is considered a crime and can carry a fine of up to $10,000 or imprisonment.) If a student is convicted while receiving assistance through any Federal Student Aid program, the student must notify the Office of Financial Aid immediately, will be ineligible for further aid, and will be required to repay all aid received after the conviction.

The Office of Financial Aid, in consultation with the Office of Student Conduct, reserves the right to review the assignment of University scholarships to students who are found responsible for violations of the drug policy at Loyola University Maryland.

The following non-exclusive list describes sanctions that may be assigned as a result of the finding of responsibility for violations of the Student Code of Conduct:

After 10 days, a late fee will be assessed, and a bill will be sent for the fine. Fines, in part, are applied to programs and services that address the overall alcohol culture on campus and to promote healthy, low risk alternatives to binge drinking.

3. Restitution

Reimbursement for damage to or misappropriation of property. Reimbursement may take the form of monetary charges or appropriate service or repair to otherwise compensate for damages. This may include the loss of leadership position(s) and ability to participate in clubs, organizations, club sports, and varsity athletics for a specified period of time.
