Core Competencies

Competency	Rating

Cross-Cultural Sensitivity Demonstrates an awareness of, and sensitivity to, the needs and concerns of individuals from different cultures. Makes adjustments in how they communicate out of respect for cultural differences and minimizes the number of cross-cultural misunderstandings. This is quite different from those individuals who invest little or no time attempting to understand cultural differences and whose efforts to communicate across cultures often leads to misunderstandings.	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>
Productivity/Quality Has established a track record of producing work that is highly accurate, that meets or exceeds productivity standards that have been established for their organizational level or position. Demonstrates attention to detail and reflects well on the organization. Has successfully combined skills, ability and effort level to ensure that expectations related to results/output are achieved. Is personally committed to high quality work and encourages others to have similar standards. This differs from those who cannot be relied upon to produce high quality work, pay little attention to detail, show little pride in a job well done and/or set a poor example for co-workers. These individuals fail to meet standards due to a shortfall in essential skills, ability or the level of energy/effort required.	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>
Dependability Makes and fulfills commitments. Has established a pattern of working independently, meeting reasonable deadlines, and accepting responsibility for their actions. Willingly makes promises and fully intends to keep them. Arrives at work on time and ready to contribute. Shows up for meetings well-prepared. This contrasts with individuals who have proven to be unreliable when others have counted on them to show up on time, meet deadlines and expectations, or arrive prepared and ready to contribute.	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>
Relationship Building / Customer Focus Builds rapport and develops alliances with a broad range of people. Demonstrates customers are a high priority. Adjusts communication style to meet the needs of individuals and clients at various organizational levels and responds to them in a timely and effective manner. Forms alliances by demonstrating concern and respect for others, as well as by highlighting common interests and aspirations. Leaves others feeling that they will be a trusted ally and is careful to act in ways that reinforce that trust over time. Anticipates and prevents delays or other things that can adversely affect the customer. Keeps customers informed about the status of pending actions and inquiries about customer satisfaction with products or services. This is in contrast with the behavior of individuals who tend to interact with a relatively narrow range of people or who fail to adjust their communication styles to accommodate others and tend to disappoint customers. It is also quite different than behavior that leaves the impression that the person is seeking to advance their own narrow agendas and interests and, leave them feeling forgotten and unimportant or that otherwise result in unmet needs or expectations.	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>

Communication

Communicates effectively and appropriately. Uses good judgment as to what to communicate to whom as well as the best way to get that accomplished. Speaks in a clear and credible manner, selecting the right tone for the situation and audience. Listens to others and allows them to make their point. This is quite different than those who tend to select the wrong means of communicating, or who communicate information to inappropriate people. It also contrasts with those whose messages are not clear or lack credibility, as well as those who demonstrate poor listening skills and are unreceptive to feedback.

Initiative

Recognizes opportunities and initiates actions to capitalize on them. Looks for new and productive ways to make an impact. Demonstrates this characteristic when it comes to generating new ideas or processes, capitalizing on new business opportunities, seeking out and taking on increasing responsibility or resolving problems as they occur. Uses sound judgment about when to take action and when to seek guidance or permission. This is in contrast to those who fail to notice opportunities, wait to be asked or instructed before taking action, seldom offer new ideas or express reservations about taking on additional responsibilities.

Analytical Thinking

Breaks down problems and issues into sub-components and then assesses the costs, benefits and risks of various options prior to selecting a particular approach. This contrasts with the behavior of individuals who tend to attack problems without a thorough examination of all important components and ramifications; who fail to weigh the costs, benefits and risks associated with various alternatives; and/or who are unable to explain or justify their decisions in a logical and systematic fashion.

Competencies Comments

Provide examples of strengths and/or areas for improvement. Provide specific examples for all competencies graded above or below a "Meets Expectations" score. Include other comments as appropriate. Comments should be thorough, substantive and capture performance over the entire performance year.

Change Management Proactively assesses the need for change, seeing to it that appropriate resources are available to facilitate changes, considers factors that will support or hinder change initiatives, enthusiastically promotes change in terms of the the expected benefits, as well as removing or lowering the impact of potential obstacles. This is clearly different from those who tend to react to change and do so in a manner that reduces the probability that change will be successful. Examples of behavior on this end of the continuum include failing to allocate appropriate resources, creating obstacles to change, and tending to put more energy and effort level into resisting change.	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>
Creating a Challenging Environment Creates an environment that ensures challenging goals that align with employee capabilities, organizational needs, and goals. This is achieved by ensuring that each employee: accepts goals that involve a challenging (yet realistic) level of risk; is motivated and encouraged to achieve goals; and believes that the goals are attainable with a reasonable level of effort. This contrasts with managers or leaders who: create (or accept) goals that are either too cautious or too challenging to attain; fail to motivate or encourage direct reports; and/or communicate a lack of confidence in one or more organizational goals.	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>
Teamwork Is an effective team player who adds complementary skills and contributes valuable ideas, opinions and feedback. Communicates in an open and candid manner and can be counted upon to fulfill any commitments made to others on the team. This is distinctly different from those who withhold ideas and opinions, offer ideas or opinions that rarely add value to team discussions, have established a track record with many unmet commitments, and/or have not contributed skills that complement the skills of others on the team.	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>
Managing Employee Performance Takes action to ensure that employees fully understand their roles, responsibilities and performance standards/expectations and provides ongoing feedback and support as employees strive to achieve expectations. Engages in two-way conversations throughout the year that ensure an up-to-date understanding of expectations, performance gaps and actions required to close any gaps. This is quite different from failing to adequately communicate expectations, being unaware of (or choosing to ignore) performance gaps, providing little or no support in overcoming barriers and failing to provide regular, ongoing feedback to employees.	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>
