WORKSHOPS

Music and Storytelling

This workshop for teachers will focus on listening activities and the development of a listening center, rhythm instruments, developing cultural stories around music (and beyond), as well as exploring some basic exercises in eurhythmics. Participants are sure to sing their way home!

The Art of Spoken Language

This workshop for assistants will give a background on the way a young child learns language, and provide concrete experiences that will help adults foster this process. Assistants will learn about vocabulary enrichment, oral storytelling, conversations, and sharing poetry, books and songs with young children. This day with Jennifer will enliven your communication with children.

WORKSHOP LEADERS

Connie Black is an AMI auxiliary trainer at the primary level, as well as an AMI lecturer and examiner. She has worked for over 20 years in Montessori and special needs classrooms, with over ten years implementing "Montessori all-day" programs. Connie has been on staff at the Montessori Institute in Atlanta and currently resides in Duluth, MN.

Jennifer Shields is an AMI Primary trainer and frequent workshop presenter at WMI. Her many years of classroom experience are a deep and enriching resource as she shares practical ideas and insights on the importance and development of spoken language for the young child.

Tuition: $80 per participant; please make check payable to Loyola University Maryland.
